2013/2014 Global Resources Report

Government and Philanthropic Support for Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Intersex Communities

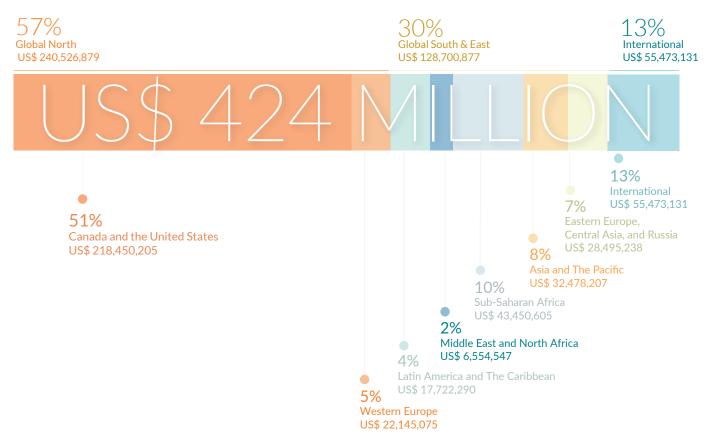

The 2013-2014 Global Resorces Report analyzes data from:

415	16	9,632	2,755
Foundations & Corporations	Governments & Multilateral Agencies	Grants	Grantees

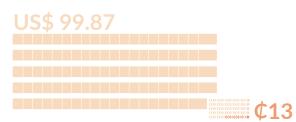

Over the two-year period of 2013 and 2014, institutional funding for Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Intersex issues totaled more than US$ 424 million.

LGBTI Funding, by Regional Focus (2013-2014)

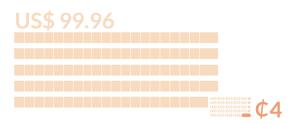

During the same period, foundations awarded a total of US$ 251 billion while governments and multilateral agencies awarded US$ 272 billion. As such, for every US$ 100 awarded by foundations, only 13 cents specifically benefited LGBTI communities. For every US$ 100 awarded by government and multilateral agencies, only 4 cents specifically benefited LGBTI communities.

Introduction from Matthew Hart & Ben Francisco Maulbeck

We are pleased to present the The 2013-2014 Global Resources Report: Philanthropic & Government Support for Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Intersex Communities, the most comprehensive report to date on the state of foundation and government funding for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex (LGBTI) issues. This first-of-its-kind report captures data on 9,632 grants awarded by 415 foundations, intermediaries, and corporations and by 16 government and multilateral agencies over the two-year period of 2013-2014. It provides detailed data on the distribution of LGBTI funding by geography, issue, strategy, and population focus, offering a baseline for identifying trends, gaps, and opportunities in the rapidly changing landscape of LGBTI funding.

The 2013-2014 Global Resources Report builds upon Funders for LGBTQ Issues' previous Global Gaze series of reports, which focused on foundation funding for the Global South and East. This new iteration of the report is significantly expanded in both scope and depth; in particular, it is more comprehensive in capturing information about funding from government agencies, and includes funding for Western Europe as well as the Global South and East.

This new report also represents a deepening collaboration between our two networks, Funders for LGBTQ Issues and the Global Philanthropy Project (GPP). By collaborating throughout every phase of the research, we have been able to draw upon the unique competencies and assets of both networks. The members of the Global Philanthropy Project were instrumental in reaching a far wider set of funders and, in particular, in capturing all of the top government funders of LGBTI issues. The expertise of GPP's global membership also helped to assure that the report reflected the interests and needs of a wide variety of funders. Funders for LGBTQ Issues contributed its strong capacities in research and communications, including more than a decade of experience producing comprehensive Tracking Reports on LGBTI funding in the U.S., as well as an aptitude for capturing complex data in understandable and visually compelling ways.

Note that while this report is the most comprehensive to date on LGBTI funding around the world, it undoubtedly has gaps. In particular, while we have captured information about the majority of funders that award large amounts of funding for LGBTI issues, we know there are some that we missed, especially local funders, corporate philanthropies, and various institutions that award one or a handful of grants that focus on LGBTI communities. We hope that this report offers a useful starting point, and that we'll be able to include an even larger set of funders in future research.

Most importantly, we hope that this report will be a valuable tool for the growing community of donors seeking to advance LGBTI rights and improve the wellbeing of LGBTI communities around the world. By better understanding the current scale and scope of LGBTI funding, we can better respond to gaps, adapt our goals, and increase our impact.

Sincerely,

Matthickfut

Overview of Global LGBTI Funding

Scope and Context of Report

This report provides an overview of institutional funding for LGBTI issues around the world. It captures data on funding from foundations, intermediaries, corporations, government agencies, and multilateral agencies, but does not include individual donors. It covers funding provided by these institutions in calendar years 2013 and 2014 for LGBTI-focused organizations and for projects that specifically focus on LGBTI communities. For a complete description of the data collection and research methods used to compile this report please see the Methodology on Page 85.

Total Funding

In 2013 and 2014, institutional funding for LGBTI issues globally totaled approximately US$424 million. During this two-year period, a total of 415 foundations and 16 government and multilateral agencies awarded more than 9,632 grants for LGBTI issues around the world.

Of the US$424 million total, approximately US$ 183 million was awarded in 2013 and US$ 242 million was awarded in 2014.

The US$ 59 million increase from 2013 to 2014 is driven in part by the data available. The US government, one of the largest funders of LGBTI issues, and the Global Equality Fund, one of the largest pooled funding mechanisms, were only able to provide data on their 2014 grantmaking. This accounts for about US$ 18.5 million, or one-third of the difference. The remaining US$ 40.5 million difference is due in part to fluctuations of multi-year grant cycles and in part due to a substantive increase in funding for LGBTI issues.

This is the first comprehensive report of its kind on all foundation and government funding, which makes it difficult to assess the trajectory of global LGBTI funding prior to 2013. However, we do have two useful sets of data points for comparison. Funders for LGBTQ Issues has completed three previous reports on LGBTI funding for the Global South and East, which covered calendar years 2005, 2007, and 2010. Funders for LGBTQ Issues also conducts annual tracking reports on all LGBTI funding provided by US foundations. Drawing on these two data sets, we find that LGBTI funding that was focused on the US more than doubled from 2005 to 2014, from about US$ 49 million to US$ 113 million. In the same period, LGBTI funding for the Global South and East grew by a factor of more than twelve, from about US$ 10 million to about US$ 129 million.

Despite the recent growth of LGBTI funding, it remains small in the larger context of foundation funding and international aid. Over the two-year period of 2013-2014, North American and European foundations awarded a total of US$ 251.1 billion. During that same period, this report finds that foundations awarded US$ 276 million specifically for LGBTI issues. In other words, for every US$ 100 that foundations gave only about 13 cents explicitly focused on LGBTI communities. According to the Organization for Economic and Co-Operative Development (OECD), development assistance funding totaled nearly US$ 135 billion in 2013 and more than US$ 137 billion in 2014, for a combined total of US$ 272 million. For the same two-year period, this report finds that government and multilateral agencies awarded about US$ 127 million specifically for LGBTI issues. In other words, for every US$ 100 of international aid and assistance, only about 4 cents explicitly focused on LGBTI issues.

Comparison of LGBTI Funding for the US and LGBTI Funding for The Global South and East (2005-2014)

Overview of Funding by Geographic Focus

This report covers funding focused on seven world regions: Asia and The Pacific; Eastern Europe, Central Asia, and Russia; Latin America and The Caribbean; Middle East and North Africa; Sub-Saharan Africa; United States and Canada; and Western Europe. It also covers funding focused on LGBTI issues at the International level.

Global LGBTI Funding by Region

During 2013 and 2014, about US$ 128 million, or 30 percent of all funding for LGBTI issues, was focused on serving or advocating for LGBTI communities in the Global South and East. This total includes US$ 43 million for Sub-Saharan Africa; US$ 32 million for Asia and the Pacific; US$ 28 million for Eastern Europe, Central Asia, and Russia; US$ 17 million for Latin America and the Caribbean; and US$ 6 million for the Middle East and North Africa.

In the same period, about US$ 240 million, or 57 percent of all funding for LGBTI issues, was focused on serving or advocating for LGBTI communities in the Global North. The United States received US$ 217 million—nearly all of it from foundations and corporations based in the US. Of the remainder, US$ 22 million focused on LGBTI communities in Western Europe, and US$ 1.3 million focused on Canada.

LGBTI Funding, by Focus Region (2013-2014)

The remaining US$ 40 million of funding focused on LGBTI issues at the International or Global level. Much of this work was done by international advocacy organizations, such as ILGA, Council for Global Equality, OutRight Action International and Human Rights Watch for work at the global level. This category includes, for example, strengthening and connecting LGBTI movements around the world, as well as advocating for the inclusion of LGBTI rights in international bodies and instruments such as those of the United Nations. Nearly all of the organizations receiving funding for international LGBTI rights are located in the Global North, and some Global North organizations also receive funding to advance LGBTI rights in the Global South and East. As a result, when LGBTI funding is analyzed by grant recipient location, we find that nearly 67 percent of resources are devoted to organizations in the Global North, and about one-third is devoted to organizations in the Global South and East. This division of resources is an approximate inverse of the world's population: 89 percent of people live in the Global South and East, while only 11 percent live in the Global North. #### Funding by Government and Multilateral Agencies

This report also tracks the grantmaking of 16 governments and multilateral agencies. Collectively they awarded US$127 million. The Top 10 governments and multilateral agencies supporting LGBTI issues awarded US$124 million, or 54 percent of all LGBTI funding focused outside the US. Note that all government grants for LGBTI issues were awarded for international work or for work outside the United States - none were focused on work within the United States.

Many national governments award LGBTI funding through multiple agencies. Several governments, for example, reported LGBTI grants awarded through both their ministry of foreign affairs and through a department devoted to international aid. Some government funders submitted consolidated grants data for all of their agencies. In other cases, multiple agencies from a single government submitted separate data on their LGBTI grants. For consistency, this report presents all government funders under the consolidated umbrellas of their national governments (e.g., Government of France). Note that in the cases of some governments, only some but not all agencies submitted data on their LGBTI grants, which may result in an underrepresentation of those countries' overall LGBTI funding. Also note that three governments submitted responses that were largely qualitative or otherwise different from other submissions, which meant that we were unable to include them in this report in order to maintain consistency of the overall data. The governments of Argentina and Uruguay submitted responses detailing various efforts they are undertaking to support LGBTI rights, such as implementing inclusive policies and service programs domestically and advocating for LGBTI rights in the international sphere. The government of Canada submitted information on its LGBTI-focused development aid, but for privacy and confidentiality reasons, was not able to provide a level of detail that would allow for inclusion in this report.

10	Government of France - Paris, France	US$ 1,396,437

*Note: In 2014, US$ 11,384,884 in pooled funding was awarded through the Global Equality Fund. This total amount included contributions from the governments of Chile, Croatia, Denmark, Finland, France, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, and the United States.

Note: In contrast to other sections of this report, this list of top funders includes re-granting, so as to capture the full amount of LGBTI funding flowing from (or through) each funder.

Top Grant Recipients

During 2013-2014, 811 nongovernmental organizations, nonprofit agencies, and other civil society organizations received grants for LGBTI issues not focused on the United States. The following list represents the Top 20 organizations to receive grant awards during this two-year period. To avoid double-counting, grants awarded for the purpose of re-granting are not included in this list. For each top recipient, the list below shows the total amount committed by funders over the two-year period of 2013 - 2014, including the full amount of any multi-year grants received in that period. For example, if an organization was awarded a three-year grant of US$1.5 million in 2014, the entire US$1.5 million grant is counted in the total, although the organization may have received their first US$500,000 disbursement of the grant in 2014. For a list of top LGBTI grant recipients in the United States, please see Funders for LGBTQ Issues' 2013 Tracking Report: Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer Grantmaking by US Foundations and 2014 Tracking Report: Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer Grantmaking by US Foundations.

Note: Anonymous Grant Recipients in various locations received a total of US$ 41,384,086 in 2013 and 2014. These grantees are anonymous for safety and security reasons.

Sources of Global LGBTI Funding

Excluding funding for the US, 54 percent of LGBTI funding came from governments and multilateral agencies. Private foundations awarded 25 percent, public foundations and intermediaries awarded 13 percent, and corporations awarded 4 percent of global LGBTI funding.

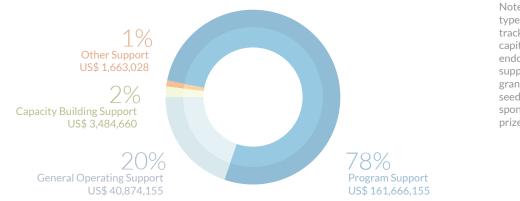

Note: In contrast to other parts of this report, this section includes funding for public foundations awarded for the purposes of re-granting. As such, this does result in some double-counting. However, including re-granting in this analysis is the most accurate way to capture the full amount of global LGBTI funding coming from (or through) the various types of funders.

Type of Support

The majority of global LGBTI funding – nearly 78 percent – was awarded in the form of program support. General operating support only accounted for 20 percent of all global LGBTI funding. Capacity-building support was the only other form of support to receive more than a US$ 1 million in funding, accounting for 2 percent of all LGBTI funding outside the United States.

Distribution of Global LGBTI Funding, by Type of Support (2013-2014) Excluding funding focused on the United States

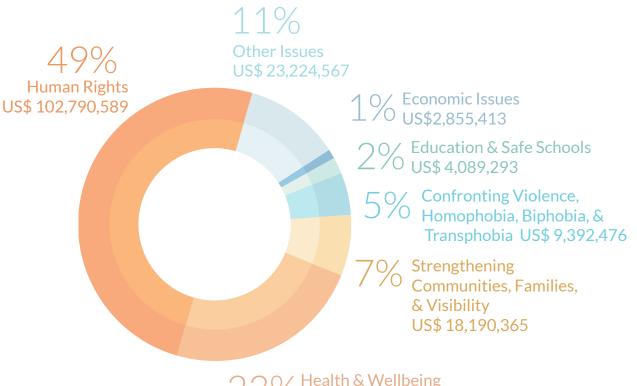

Note: The other types of funding we tracked included capital support, endowment support, matching grants, scholarships, seed funding, sponsorships, and prizes.

Issues Funded

Over the two-year period of 2013 and 2014, US$207.6 million was awarded to LGBTI issues outside the United States. Human Rights was the highest funded issue area, receiving US$102.7million, or almost 50 percent, of this funding. Health and Wellbeing received US$47 million - of which 77 percent was for HIV/AIDS. Funding to Strengthen Community, Families and Visibility saw almost US$18 million, or 9 percent of the total, while organizations working on Economic Issues, Education and Safe Schools Issues, and addressing Violence, Homophobia, Biphobia and Transphobia saw less than 5 percent of the total funding each. About 11 percent of LGBTI funding was for Other Issues, largely because the details of these grants were not reported in order to maintain the anonymity and safety of the organizations receiving funding.

Strategies Funded

Over the two-year period of 2013 and 2014, US$207.6 million was awarded to organizations advancing various strategies to serve and empower LGBTI communities outside the United States. Advocacy, Community Organizing, and Public Education was the top funded strategy, receiving US$112.3 million, or 54 percent, of LGBTI funding outside the US. Direct Service was the second highest funded strategy and received US$33.5 million, or 16 percent, followed by funding for Capacity-Building and Training, which received US$23 million or 11 percent of all funding. Grant recipeints engaged in Research received $9.5 million or 5% of global LGBTI funding, while organizations involved in using Culture and Media strategies received US$4.6 million, or 2 percent. Grant recipients working to advance Philanthropy and Fundraising strategies also received US$4.6 million, or 2 percent, while projects that used Multiple Strategies received US$19.6 million, or 9 percent of all LGBTI funding.

Population Focus

The vast majority of grants - 82 percent or almost US$170 million - of the US$207.6 million awarded to LGBTI issues outside the US did not focus on a specific LGBTI population. These grants were designated to serve "LGBTI people" broadly, either by the funder and/or grant recipient. This means, there is no accurate way to estimate how -or if- these grants reached special populations within the LGBTI community or focused on their unique needs. This section examines funding for distinct sections of the LGBTI community and highlights funding that was explicitly focused on key LGBTI populations.

Funding by Sexual Orientation

Over the two year period of 2013 and 2014, funding specifically focused on the unique needs of Gay and Bisexual Men, Queer Men, and Men who Have Sex with Men (MSM) totaled US$21 million, or 10 percent. Funding focused on Lesbian and Bisexual Women, and Queer Women totaled US$ 9.5 million, or 5 percent of LGBTI funding outside the US. Projects focused on serving the specific needs of Bisexual communities received US$ 136,687, or less than one percent of the total.

Much of the population-focused funding by sexual orientation was highly concentrated on specific issues, strategies, or geographies. Nearly two-thirds of funding for Gay and Bisexual men, Queer Men, and Men who Have Sex with Men (MSM) was devoted to HIV/AIDS - 70 percent was for HIV/AIDS initiatives in Asia and the Pacific and 10 percent was for HIV/AIDS initiatives in Sub-Saharan Africa. 99 percent of funding for Bisexual communities was for Research, with over 90 percent of funding for Bisexual communities going to Western Europe. Nearly half (47 percent) of funding for Lesbians was for Community Organizing, and 60 percent was for Sub-Saharan Africa.

Funding by Gender Identity

Over the two-year period of 2013 and 2014, funding specifically focused on the unique needs of Transgender communities was US$23 million. Within this figure, projects specifically focused on Transgender Women received almost US$2 million and projects focused on Transgender Men received less than US$ 60,000. Projects that explicitly served the needs of Intersex communities received about US$ 700,000, or less than 1 percent of the total amount awarded for global LGBTI issues.

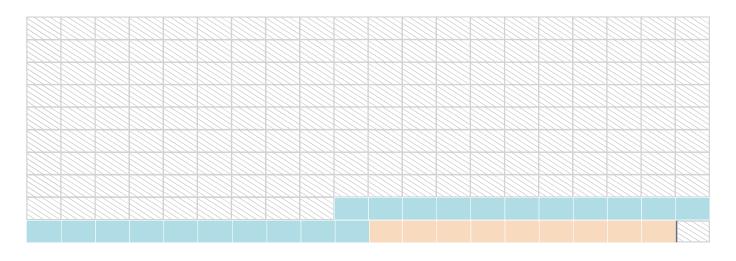

Similar to funding by sexual orientation, much of the population-focused funding by gender identity was concentrated on specific issues, strategies and geographies. 52 percent of Transgender funding was for Human Rights, and 32 percent was for Health and Wellbeing issues. Less than US$ 2 million went to Confronting Violence, Homophobia, Biphobia and Transphobia affecting Transgender and Intersex communities and approximately, US$1.7 million of funding for Transgender communities went to Strengthening Community, Families and Visibility. One-third of Transgender funding was focused on Asia and the Pacific and 20 percent each went to Latin America and the Caribbean and Sub-Saharan Africa.

Funding for Other Populations

This section tracks the amount of funding explicitly focused on other key populations within LGBTI communities.

Of the US$36 million of global LGBTI funding addressing HIV/AIDS, about one third focused on directly serving People Living with HIV/AIDS. Funding for LGBTI Sex Workers was US$ 6.2 million, or 4 percent of overall LGBTI grantmaking. Over the two-year period of 2013-2014, grantmaking to support LGBTI Immigrants, Refugees, and Asylum Seekers totaled US$ 3.7 million, funding for Low-income and Homeless or Marginally-Housed LGBTI people was US$2.7.

LGBTI People with Disabilities received US$2.7 million and funding for Survivors of Violence was US$ 2.4 million. Half-a-million US dollars focused on Indigenous LGBTI communities, and another US$ 1.4 million focused specifically on LGBTI Ethnic Minorities.

Funding that was focused on LGBTI Substance Users and People in Recovery, Incarcerated and Formerly Incarcerated People, and Military Service Members and Veterans was less than US$ 600,000 each.

LGBTI Funding for the Global South and East

Over the two-year period of 2013-2014, 73 foundations, corporations, intermediaries, government donors and multilateral agencies awarded 1,706 grants totaling US$ 128,700,887 for LGBTI issues in the Global South and East. For the purposes of this report, the Global South and East is defined to encompass Asia and The Pacific; Eastern Europe, Central Asia, and Russia; Latin America and The Caribbean; Sub-Saharan Africa; and Middle East and North Africa. These regions include most of the world's lower-income and middle-income countries as well as a handful of higher-income countries. They are home to 89 percent of the global population, but received only 30 percent of LGBTI funding in this time period.

Top Funders and Recipients

The Top 10 funders of LGBTI issues for the Global South and East awarded more than US$ 90.7 million, or 66 percent of the total. Five of the Top 10 funders were foundations, and the remaining five were governments or multilateral organizations.

Funding for International LGBTI Issues

Over the two-year period of 2013-2014, 68 foundations and government agencies awarded 288 grants totaling US$ 78,868,506 for LGBTI issues in the international arena. When funds intended for re-granting are excluded, support for LGBTI issues internationally totaled US$ 55,473,131. Funding for the international arena encompasses all funding that crosses country and region boundaries. This funding might promote LGBTI issues globally through advocacy to international bodies, efforts to support and connect LGBTI advocates around the world, or other means.

Top Funders and Recipients

Over US$ 20 million was re-granted to support funding for international LGBTI issues. In that context, the top 10 funders of international LGBTI issues awarded a total of US$ 61.7 million, or more than three-quarters of the total when funding intended for re-granting is included.

Sources of International LGBTI Funding

During the two-year period of 2013-2014, the largest share (59 percent) of international LGBTI funding was awarded by government agencies. A significant amount of the funding was also provided by private foundations (25 percent).

Sources of International LGBTI Funding, by Funder Type (2013-2014)

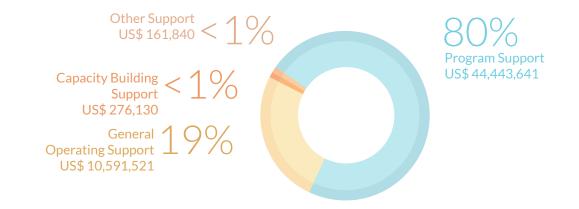

Note: In contrast to other parts of this report, this section includes funding for public foundations awarded for the purposes of regranting. As such, this does result in some doublecounting. However, including re-granting in this analysis is the most accurate way to capture the full amount of global LGBTI funding coming from (or through) the various types of funders.

Type of Support and Grant Duration

80 percent of International LGBTI funding was awarded in the form of program support. General operating support accounted for 19 percent of all international LGBTI funding. Capacity-building support was received less than 1 percent of international LGBTI funding. Emergency funds, matching grants, scholarships, and sponsorships collectively accounted for less than 1 percent of international LGBTI funding.

Examining international LBGTI funding by the duration of grants, 46 percent of the funding was awarded for a grant period of one year or less. 17 percent of the funding was awarded for a two-year grant period while grants with a three-year grant period and a four-year grant period accounted for 18 percent each.

This Appendix shows the amount of funding that was designated for LGBTI issues by country of focus over the two-year period of 2013 and 2014. This table does not reflect whether these grants were made to organizations located within or outside each country of focus. Additionally, this table does not include grantmaking for initiatives focused across multiple countries, which in 2013 and 2014 totaled just under US$ 98 million.

Annex: The Future of Monitoring Official Development Aid Disbursements relevant to LGBTI/SOGI through the OECD Database

The 2013-2014 Global Resources Report is based on grants data collected directly from foundations and government agencies. Here two researchers present a complementary methodology for identifying and tracking LGBTI-focused grants by searching existing databases that gather information on aid for development, such as OECD's Aid Activity database.

Felicity Daly DrPH, Executive Director, Kaleidoscope Trust, and Leonardo Arregoces MD, MSc, Research Fellow, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine.

The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD)'s Creditor Reporting System (CRS) Aid Activity database collects information on Official Development Assistance (ODA), which enables analysis of how much and where ODA is channelled and what purposes it serves. With 2.2 million records of more than US$ 2 trillion in disbursements between 2002-2013, the CRS database has proven to be a valuable source for resource tracking.

To test the extent to which future Global Resource Reports could benefit from using the CRS database to monitor ODA disbursements targeted to benefit LGBTI people, or focused on ending discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and gender identity (SOGI), we implemented the resource tracking method used by the Countdown to 2015 Health Financing group<sup>1</sup>. The complete CRS Aid Activity datasets for the years 2002-2013 were downloaded from the OECD Stat website and searches performed based on several keywords related to LGBTI issues. As some of the terms used cannot be considered exclusive to these issues, false positives were expected. Records where at least one of the keywords was found were subsequently manually reviewed and coded if they were relevant to LGBTI issues. For each keyword we calculated the proportion considered relevant for inclusion. A high proportion could be interpreted as a validation that the applied method has potential for further research to estimate the sensitivity and specificity of different keywords, that would support faster and efficient tracking of aid.

Additionally, we used the information contained in the records counted for inclusion to estimate disbursements to recipient countries for LGBTI issues.

Several keywords (e.g., the acronym LGBT and the terms lesbian and transgender) were highly accurate in identifying projects relevant to LGBTI issues, while others (e.g. stigma) were relevant in less that 1% of the cases. A total of 2,642 projects were identified through keywords, with only 1,172 (44%) considered relevant for inclusion.

Our preliminary analysis of disbursements based on this keyword search identified US$ 429.5 million in ODA for LGBTI issues between 2002-2013, which represents a 0,02% of total ODA disbursed in that period.

This initial analysis of the records suggest an exponential growth of disbursements for LGBTI/SOGI issues over time. However, these figures are likely to be an overestimate as not all disbursements are exclusively focused on LGBTI communities. We note that the volume of funding for the HIV response, which often only incidentally benefits LGBTI communities, contributes to the overestimate and dwarfs funding for interventions to protect and advance the human rights of LGBTI people. Further research is needed to estimate the LGBTI-focused portion of projects with a wider scope. This method could be applied to search other databases that gather information about aid disbursements, such as datasets that utilize the International Aid Transparency Initiative standard.

Beyond improving future Global Resource Reports, this approach could also support advocacy for increased LGBTIfocused development aid so as to end discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and gender identity and assure that "no one is left behind".

Methodology

The 2013-2014 Global Resource Report analyzes grantlevel data for grants awarded in 2013 and 2014 to support lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex issues. It relies on grant awards as opposed to grant disbursements.

For multi-year commitments, the sum of the grant is counted in the year it is awarded. For example, a two-year grant for US$ 100,000 awarded in 2013 would be credited as a US$ 100,000 grant in 2013 as opposed to a US$ 50,000 grant in 2013 and then another US$ 50,000 grant in 2014 – or whatever the disbursements might be.

Our overarching research goal was to ensure that the data we collected focused specifically on LGBTI issues and organizations. Therefore, the data does not include grants to organizations or projects that are generally inclusive of LGBTI people unless they explicitly address an LGBTI issue or population. For example, a human rights organization given a grant to provide asylum services to marginalized refugees, open and welcoming of all refugees, including LGBTI people, would not have been included in the data. If that same human rights organization were funded to provide asylum services specifically supporting LGBTI refugees, it would have been included.

To maintain consistency, grantmakers were asked to provided the raw grant-level data, which in turn was coded and analyzed by a research team at Funders for LGBTI Issues. The 2013-2014 Global Resource Report surveyed the grantmaking of more than 1,000 philanthropic entities and more than a dozen donor governments. All types of philanthropic entities were surveyed, including:

- Private foundations established by a family or individual donor;
- Public foundations set up to raise the money it then grants out, inclusive of non-governmental organizations with grantmaking programs;
- Corporate foundations of and grantmaking programs at for- profiit organizations; as well as Anonymous donors.

Information was obtained predominantly through selfreporting, and was supplemented by a review of US IRS form 990s and annual reports where available. All government grantmaking was self-reported.

This report includes all information received as of June 10,, 2016.

We have included all re-granting dollars in charts that rank individual grantmakers and the appendix to accurately show the overall level of LGBTQ funding provided by each grantmaker, regardless of whether those dollars are provided in the form of direct grants or through an intermediary that then re-grants those dollars to other organizations and individuals. As a result, the charts that rank grantmakers and the appendix "double-count" re-granting when aggregated. However, for all other tabulations and charts, we have not included dollars awarded for the purpose of re-granting, so as to avoid double counting.

About Funders For LGBTQ Issues

MISSION

Funders for LGBTQ Issues works to increase the scale and impact of philanthropic resources aimed at enhancing the wellbeing of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and queer communities, promoting equity, and advancing racial, economic and gender justice.

WHO WE ARE

Funders for LGBTQ Issues is a network of more than 70 foundations, corporations, and funding institutions that collectively award more than US$ 1 billion annually, including more than US$100 million specifically devoted to LGBTQ issues.

WHAT WE DO

Research & Communications

Funders for LGBTQ issues has a long history of reporting on LGBTQ grantmaking by both U.S. foundations and international institutions. We produce an annual tracking report and other special reports to monitor the character of LGBTQ funding in order to identify trends, gaps, and opportunities. Our reports on domestic and global LGBTQ funding are considered the field's most reliable and useful source of data on resource flows to LGBTQ communities. Many of our reports have been cited by academic journals, think tanks, non-governmental organizations, government agencies, newspapers, blogs, and other media.

Outreach & Support Services

Funders for LGBTQ Issues conducts individualized outreach and engagement of funders not currently funding LGBTQ issues to demonstrate how LGBTQ issues intersect with a range of grantmaking priorities. We connect with allies in foundations not yet funding LGBTQ issues and work with them to build institutions that are more inclusive and responsive to LGBTQ communities.

Convening & Collective Action

Funders for LGBTQ Issues regularly convenes grantmakers committed to LGBTQ issues so that they may connect with one another, learn from each other, coordinate their efforts, and maximize their impact. We host working groups and initiatives on specific topics to help funders shape funding strategies and leverage opportunities for new philanthropic partnerships. Through participation in other philanthropic conferences and partnerships with other funder networks, we also broaden our reach and ensure LGBTQ voices are present in vital funding conversations.

About Global Philanthropy Project (GPP)

MISSION

Global Philanthropy Project (GPP) is a collaboration of funders and philanthropic advisors working to expand global philanthropic support to advance the human rights of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex (LGBTI) people in the Global South and East.

OUR GOALS

Cultivate and deepen the knowledge, skills and capacity of GPP members and other funders in support of global LGBTI issues.

Increase the amount and influence the type of private and public foundation funding dedicated to global LGBTI issues.

Increase the amount and influence the type of multilateral and bilateral aid and development funding dedicated to global LGBTI issues.

Increase the amount and influence the type of philanthropic giving from individual donors dedicated to global LGBTI issues.

Increase the amount and influence the type of philanthropic giving from corporations dedicated to global LGBTI issues.

Build a dynamic, responsive, and effective structure enabling the GPP network.

WHO WE ARE

Established in 2009, GPP's 16 member organizations include many of the leading global funders and philanthropic advisors for LGBTI rights. As the first international cohort of LGBTI funders, GPP is internationally recognized as the primary thought leader and go-to partner for donor coordination around global LGBTI work.

Acknowledgements

THANK YOU

The 2013-2014 Global Resources Report was a truly collaborative effort that would not have been possible without the dedicated members of both Funders for LGBTQ Issues and Global Philanthropy Project. We're particularly grateful to Addison Smith who, through countless hours of consultation, helped make this report a reality. We'd like to thank each of the foundations, government agencies, and other grantmakers who shared their data with us and trusted us to produce a useful tool for the field. This includes our friends at Funders Concerned About AIDS who graciously shared data. We'd also like to acknowledge the following list of individuals for reading an early draft of the report and providing invaluable feedback: J. Bob Alotta, Ise Bosch, Mark Bromley, Namita Chad, Adrian Coman, Julie Dorf, Shalini Eddens, Somjen Frazer, Michael Guest, Sarah Gunther, Michael Heflin, Erin Howe, Allison Jernow, Happy Kinyili, Mutisya Leonard, Kerry-Jo Lyn, Mukami Marete, Wanja Muguongo, Lia Parifax, Cindy Rizzo, Dave Scamell, Nadia van der Linde, and Luis Vivaldi. Thank you everyone for making this the best possible report with your insights and recommendations.
